
Hygrozyme on my Shelf

Posted by QuickStar - 2007/11/13 23:51

Hi everyone!

I got this bottle of Hygrozyme on my Shelf here, but I never use it. I seem to prefer cannazyme.

Does anyone know the difference between these products? I don't like using Hygrozyme because as far as I can tell it is not organic.

I prefer organic products.

=====

Re:Hygrozyme on my Shelf

Posted by Leap - 2007/11/13 23:54

Hygrozyme is OMRI Listed..the highest rating for organic products.

Hygrozyme has unequalled industry accreditation, with unlimited product stability and shelf life.

Hygrozyme is a medical grade enzymatic formula that's laboratory & field tested and proven by Real PhD's.

Hygrozyme can be used as a foliar wash application with 4-6ml/gal using RO or distilled water.

Hygrozyme is compatible with H₂O₂ in low ppm. Trenchant in cleansing Hydro/Rockwool/Coco containerized mediums.

I can't live without it!

=====

Re:Hygrozyme on my Shelf

Posted by QuickStar - 2007/11/13 23:56

... sold then I guess!

=====